Short summary of the talk:

He gave information about the industry and he told his life story about how he became a successful business man and software developer.

What have you learned?

If you are going to be in the software industry; you should try to start and run your own company, do not try to be someone else's worker immediately after graduating from university. Multitasking brings multipersonality, so you should master in couple things in your life.

Which parts of the presentation were particularly important/useful?

His experiences and stories about his business was so important and useful for us, whose going to be in this industry in a couple years or so.

Comment on the talk, the presenter, the company, and their projects.

The presenter Oğuz Yılmaz is a successful developer and business man. His projects and experiences throughout his life is a lesson to learn. I didn't hear about his company before the talk, but according to the talk, I can say that the company has a history of success throughout its years. The project about the translation (converting Ottoman texts into Latin alphabet) was so interesting and made me do a research about it after the talk. I noted every recommendation he made, and I believe I will use them in my business life.
